Volume 64, No. 43

March 1, 2017

President PETER UHRY rang the opening bell at 10:00 AM and introduced JERRY SCHWENDEMAN to lead us in the Pledge. Accompanied by BOB MORGAN on the piano, ERF PORTER led us in spirited singing of The Star Spangled Banner, Oh, What a Beautiful Morning and You Made Me Love You. JERRY SCHWENDEMAN then drew laughs with a story about a man who shared an airplane seat with a woman on her way to a nymphomania convention in Chicago to speak on the myths of sex. Those who heard Gerry will recognize the name Tonto Goldstein.

TODAY'S SPEAKER:

BOB ROBINS introduced Michael Baker, who spent over fifteen years as a covert field operations officer for the CIA. Mr. Baker shared his thoughts on the key global threats facing the new administration. His presentation included serious and sometimes humorous accounts of his personal service in the CIA and the intelligence challenges facing our nation today. He said that the top three challenges during the past several decades come from Russia, China and Iran, in particular, but also from North Korea. Russia, he noted, has been trying to influence American public opinion since 1940, when it was allied with Nazi Germany, and tried to keep our country from entering WWII. He is not surprised that they tried to influence our 2016 elections. China, he said, leads the world in cyber and economic espionage, but faces a big problem trying to control its population, as its economy slows. Iran, Mr. Baker suggested, presents very difficult problems for our intelligence community, and we are heavily dependent on Jordan and Israel in developing intelligence. He noted Iran now has more influence in Iraq and much of the mid-east than does the U.S. He thinks that, despite American efforts, it is probable that the Taliban will regain control of Afghanistan. Mr. Baker thinks North Korea is close to achieving its military objectives, and that it may be wishful thinking to rely on China to control North Korea.

This is the tenth in a series of Member Profiles intended to allow members to get to know one another beyond a face and a name tag

Noel David Burleson

Born in Lewiston, Idaho on December 16, 1931, Noel, when only a week old was denied by his parents to fill the Christmas Pageant role of being the Christ Child. At 4, when two older brothers were in school, Noel balked at kindergarten and became a dropout...from Lewiston at 4, he embarked upon geographic exploration thru the next 14 years..... Sunnyside, Wash., Sacramento, Cal., Winslow, Ariz., Plaquemine and Bunkie, LA., Sandpoint, Idaho, Choteau, Montana, Scotland, SD and Sparta, Wis.... never claiming to be a Spartan...(1950) Valedictorian at Sparta High School.

Taking up his poetic dou-nym, David Inkey--as the self-proclaimed UN Poet Laureate, President of Antarctic University, and UNICEF Santa Emeritus--is a reformed Harvard Anthropologist. Having graduated from Deep Springs College in 1954, University of Kansas City in 1956, and building schools with American Friends Service Committee in Mexico, David received his PHD in Anthropology from Harvard in 1964. He worked with the UN from 1975-91, retiring as Unesco advisor to UNICEF. He taught at the University of North Carolina in Education and Anthropology (1969-72); served as the Associate Director of the Pathfinder Fund working on global family planning (1964-66); joined the Harvard Graduate School of Education (1956-69), to develop the field of Population Education; and advanced medical anthropology in El Salvador as a Rockefeller Foundation Visiting Professor (1961-64).

In November, 1969, David met Nan Robinson, a nature lover, physical activist, and very musical person, at the 1969 World Development Conference in New Delhi, India. They married in 1970, have enjoyed decades of mutual commitment to global sustainability, and have two children. Their son, Winslow, is an Associate Professor of Nursing Innovation at NYU and their daughter, Elizabeth, has established the Burleson Institute for climate-energy-water good governance. Since 1981 the Burlesons have lived in Cos Cob, in a 1770s converted vegetable barn, on the banks of the Mianus, to which David invites many to swim and boat. David joined the RMA in 2015 and serves as the "Poetry Program Coordinator"-- encouraging all members to explore the nations of imagi! Here are two of Inkey's visions: selections from "My Pond" and "with death, love does not die".

My pond is something of a magic wand...	with death, love does not die
The water beckons turtles and swans...	we cry tears of deep grief for our own relief,
The geese and gulls fill the lulls	memory is a bridge cresting on a special ridge
The water reckons for all joy and delight...	with death, love does not die...
Morning, noon and night, the pond reckons well.	in each life sentence,
It is my 53 acre toy!	let us find time for repentance..
On my pond you may want to boat...	sorrow we need not borrow,
Kayak on canoe... 'Tis UP to you...	each other's joy we may employ
