TODAY'S PROGRAM

Today's speaker presented a compelling and informative illustrated lecture on the Titanic. Using facts, film and insightful tidbits (warm winter weather contributed to a high level of North Atlantic ice in 1912) Mr. Paul-Henry Nargeolet explained how he, as part of Titanic, Inc. has made 30 dives on the oceanliner that sank 103 years ago. Using submersibles, over 130,000 photos have been taken. Site mapping has been done and some 5,800 artifacts have been recovered. Today, we learned, bacteria are eating some 600-800 lbs of metal off the ship each day. As with all our programs, this one will be archived on the RMA website. 131 people attended the lecture and question and answer session.
