Jim Bell

“Politics and the Olympics”

Executive Producer of NBC Olympics Jim Bell is uniquely positioned to discuss how politics affect the Olympic Games. Although frequently touted as apolitical, the Olympics offer a global stage to create a lasting image for the host country, either positive or negative. Bell will share with us some of the challenges and successes of covering the Olympics since the 1992 Barcelona games, including the controversial 2014 Sochi Winter Games.

Prior to this role, Bell was Executive Producer of NBC News' TODAY show. Bell has produced some of the highest-profile sports and news programming on television. He has created, managed and overseen original content of every type and is a leader within NBC's senior production ranks. His 7 1/2 year tenure as the Executive Producer at TODAY was the longest in the show's history.

Bell and his family live in Greenwich. He graduated from Harvard College with a Bachelor of Arts (B.A.), Political Science and Government after high school in Branford, Connecticut.

RMA meetings are free and open to the public, both men and women; no reservations are required. Please plan to arrive around 10:40AM for our social break (coffee and cake), followed by our speaker at 11:00M. Meetings are held at the First Presbyterian Church in Greenwich, with parking on-street or at public lot two houses north of the church on Lafayette Place.
