IT SERVICES FOR SMALL AND MEDIUM-SIZED BUSINESSES

The benefit of information technology to businesses is that it empowers them to do things that wouldn't be possible previously, conduct operations and communication with improved efficiency and facilitates growth. In today's society, it permeates everyone's daily lives, and mobility has accelerated the rate of communication and change. People's business and personal lives are now interwoven through the use of "connected" personal and mobile technology.

Larry Furst is the President and CEO of NST Systems, Inc. Stamford CT. He started NST Systems in 1994 to address the technology and security challenges of small businesses. He recognized even then that small organizations need to manage many of the same challenges as large ones, but they need to do it with fewer resources and minimal overhead.

Today, NST is a "boutique" IT services firm specializing in serving private equity, hedge funds and family wealth management firms. Clients also include medical practices, construction and other service businesses. NST provides premium-quality services, with only senior-caliber consulting staff. The company mission is: "A commitment to provide peace of mind to our clients, through highly competent outsourced IT services, with a commitment to ethical relationships and mutual success with our partners". More information about NST services and initiatives can be found on the company website: www.nstsystems.com.

Larry entered the Information Technology industry in 1980 when he joined the TRW-Fujitsu Company, and subsequently held sales, operations and field service management positions in Data Switch Corporation, Network Systems Corporation, Hughes LAN Systems, and Sanyo Icon.

Larry is a Greenwich resident since 1988, and the father of two grown sons who were educated in the Greenwich public schools. He is married to Dr. Janet Levine, a practicing dentist and TMJ specialist with an office in Tarrytown, NY.
