President DON CONWAY rang his bell to assemble the group in the sanctuary. He gave appropriate recognition to our treasurer, WAYNE DEVRIES, and the week's mentor, RUSS HARDEN. Honoring CHUCK STANDARD who passed away last week, song leader JACK SWEGER, with BOB MORGAN on the keyboard, led us in singing CHUCK's favorite patriotic songs: "God Bless America," "You're a Grand Old Flag," and "I'm a Yankee Doodle Dandy." BOB BISHOP suggested that next week we wear coats and ties in CHUCK's honor.

Corresponding Secretary ARNOLD GORDON amused us with a series of jokes. ARNOLD also reminded us to wear special protective glasses if we wanted to view the sun's ellipse next week. RUSS HARDEN reminded us to come to the picnic on September 14.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

BOB ROBINS spoke in memory of Philip Smith. As a rural Methodist minister's child in rural Oklahoma, he worked on farm-boy jobs. He graduated from Oklahoma City University, and soon acquired computer and internet skills. He became expert in hospital system digital development and this became his career. Philip had two children. His wife predeceased him before he moved to Greenwich. He became an active member of the RMA, helping with web maintenance and publicity. There will be a memorial service Saturday, September 9, at 2:30 at the First Presbyterian Church in Greenwich.

PETER UHRY urged all to stay for today's speaker, Rear Admiral John Weigold (see below). He then told us that next week we will enjoy another musical program by GEORGE UBOGY. This time he will draw on the music of Rogers and Hammerstein, with special reference to the world of chimes and carillons.

TODAY'S SPEAKER

Rear Admiral John F. Weigold IV was assigned to his current role as reserve deputy commander, U.S. Pacific Fleet in December 2015. He is a graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy, the Naval War College and the Joint Forces Staff College.

An exceptionally large audience learned about the history and linkages of the Indo-Asia-Pacific region through which passes a third of the world's trade. Sixty percent of the U.S. Navy-- 140,000 personnel -- is assigned to this area. International Naval activities are guided by traditional laws and agreements. Current concerns in the South China Sea result from China's efforts to change these rules. U.S. operations are largely based on old technology. Bringing them up to date is a slow process. China is catching up rapidly.

North Korea is very difficult to infiltrate. It is difficult to figure out what they will do, and we have been forced to take a defensive posture. Much of our effort is focused on building relationships with other nations in the area.

Admiral Weigold's impressive knowledge and experience were greatly appreciated.
