“Prostate Disease, Complexities of Cancer Detection and Treatment”

Panel Discussion moderated by Dr. Jeffrey Puglisi

Four doctors affiliated with Greenwich Hospital will discuss various aspects of prostate cancer, the second most common form of cancer in men after skin cancer. It is highly treatable if detected early, and the death rate from it has declined substantially over the past 30 years. Nevertheless, approximately 35,000 die from it each year in the U.S.

Moderating the discussion will be Jeffrey Puglisi, MD, president of the Greenwich Medical Society and also affiliated with Glenville Medical Concierge Care. Panelists are Bruce McGibbon, MD, Associate Professor of Clinical Therapeutic Radiation and Medical Director Greenwich Hospital Radiation Oncology; Daniel Petrylak, MD, Professor of Medicine (Medical Oncology) and Urology and Chief, Genitourinary Oncology, Smilow Cancer Center; and Michael Karellas, MD, Assistant Professor, Department of Urology.
